OceanB each Bank To Be Ready For Business Jan. 1st

PLANS PREPARED FOR EARLY CONSTRUCTION OF FINE MODERN BUILDING

The proposed new Ocean Beach branch bank of the Southern Trust and Commerce Bank at the corner of Newport avenue and Bacon street will be built and ready for occupancy by next January 1st. This positive statement was made to the editor of "The Beach News" early this week by Mr. Deane M. Plaister, director, vice-president and manager of branches of the Southern Trust and Commerce Bank of San Diego.

Surveyors have been busy of late verifying the block measurements and plans for the new building have been prepared by Architect Templeton Johnson, who has designed a very beautiful modern structure that will prove highly ornamental as well as beneficial to the entire beach district.

DEANE M. PLAISTER
Director and Vice-President and Manager of Branches Southern Trust and Commercial Bank.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Southern Trust & Commerce Bank, Deane M. Plaister, vice-president and manager of branches, was elected director of the bank, to fill the vacancy created by the death of S. M. Bingham.

It is recorded that Mr. Plaister entered the employ of the Southern Trust 14 years ago as bookkeeper. His advancement has been rapid, and two years ago he was made a senior officer of the bank. Under his direction, branches have been opened in Escondido, Normal Heights and Logan Heights. At present he is working out the details for a branch in Ocean Beach. He also was largely instrumental in the formation of the Oceanside Commercial & Savings Bank, which is affiliated closely with the Southern Trust. Other branches under his supervision are at Coronado, La Jolla, National City, El Centro and Brawley.

Mr. Plaister is married and has four children, three native Californians and one born in Wyoming. His sister, Cornelia D. Plaister, recently was appointed librarian of the San Diego Public Library. Mr. Plaister is a Mason and resides on Point Loma.

FINE RESIDENCE BUILT BY MR. and MRS. C. W. WHALING ON CAPE MAY AVENUE

One of the handsomest and most well appointed homes in Ocean Beach is undergoing completion at 4811 Cape May avenue, for Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Whaling, who have personally superintended its construction with exceptionally pleasing results.

The house is very attractive and commodious, containing six rooms and bath, and is fitted with all modern conveniences. A large reception room, fitted with a magnificent fire-place and mantel, connects with a comfortable library room through a graceful wide arch, the entire tone effect being in old gold. A thoroughly modernized kitchen is treated in white and ivory and three airy bedrooms have been finished in distinctively delicate and individually appropriate tints of robin blue, shell pink and morning glory. The bathroom is conveniently located at the end of a central hall and the entire house is fitted with numerous closets and the latest built-in features, while a wide cellar under one end affords room for heating and lighting appliances as well as storage. A double garage, with a front drive through a graceful arch, has been constructed at the rear of the handsome rsidence, all of the buildings being in the Spanish style of architecture, cream-colored with red tile trimmings, and harmoniously forming one of the finest residences in the beach district.

SPARE TIRE STOLEN

A sneak thief entered the garage of G. R. King on Saratoga avenue last Tuesday forenoon and stole a spare tire from an automobile belonging to Miss Henry, a teacher in the O. B. public school. The King family were absent at the time and Miss Henry has been parking her car in their garage for safety and convenience. The police are working on a clew to the robbery.

Point Loma Building Activity

JOHN P. MILLS FORECASTS EXTENSIVE CONSTRUCTION FOR RESIDENTIAL DISTRICT

Extensive home building activities on the Point Loma properties, prepared and marketed as new exclusive residential area by the John P. Mills Organization is predicted for the fall and winter season. Many new homes already have been built in sections first placed under improvement and marketed, but the greater area of higher restrictions is just now coming into tract preparedness for building.

It is announced that the John P. Mills Organization, selling agents for Pantages, Mills, Shreve & Co., is closing out the last of the tracts subdivided from the extensive acreage of the holding company that has been transformed into a wide swath of restricted, improved residential sites extending diagonally across Point Loma from Loma Portal on the bay side to the Theosophical homestead on the Pacific shore. The subdivision now being marketed is Riviera Villas, on the crest of the point above Sunset Cliffs.

FIVE POINTS CIVIC LEAGUE

The Five Points Civic League held its regular weekly meeting at the "U-Ban-O" Chili factory. It was rather a self-satisfied meeting for the various objects for which the League has been working lately seemed attained and the members decided on further monthly meetings, the next meeting to be held October 8.

The mail service petitions are being circulated and will soon be on their way to Washington.

The ornamental lighting committee has completed its work. The ornamental lights are assured and the petition has gone to the council.

The traffic department agreed to 15 mile and 20 mile speed limit through Five Points and promised to install signs and other forms of traffic protection at once.

At the next meeting it is hoped a member of the city planning commission will meet with the League and help the members lay plans for futupre improvements.

HENRY EULBERG SAYS GET FISK NON-SKID TIRES FOR FALL AND WINTER

"According to authentic advices from a reliable national authority," says Henry Eulberg of the Ocean Beach Garage on Newport avenue, "it is predicted that the price of rubber is due to advance and auto owners are advised to secure Fisk non-skid tires for the fall and winter season at the present low prices." Mr. Eulberg has a complete line of tires and tubes of the famous Fisk brand and the Ocean Beach Garage is "fully equipped for the best service."

GRANADA THEATRE, LA JOLLA

"Old Loves and New," "The Marriage Clause," "Wet Paint" and "The Man from Red Gulch," are the feature picture attractions for the week starting Sunday, at the Granada Theatre, La Jolla.

On Sunday and Monday, Lewis Stone and Barbara Bedford will be seen in "Old Loves and New," a drama of English social life. The plot has been founded on E. M. Hull's novel, "The Desert Healer." The locale of the story is England and Algeria, and besides Mr. Stone and Miss Bedford it boasts of such well known favorites as Katherine MacDonald and Walter Pidgeon.

Universal's super-Jewel production, "The Marriage Clause," with Billie Dove and Francis X. Bushman, is the featured attraction for Tuesday and Wednesday. Like "Variety" and "You Never Know Women," "The Marriage Clause" is a story of show life, yet entirely different. Francis X. Bushman, who has staged a great comeback with his work in "Ben Hur," gives one of the best performances of his career in "The Marriage Claus," and Billie Dove, who becomes a footlight sensation.

Raymond Griffith comes back to the Granada, the first time in months, in his latest laugh riot, "Wet Paint," for Thursday and Friday. "Wet Paint" is short on title but long on laughs, and you can bet that there is no dry humor in the length of it. Helene Costello is the Girl, and Arthur Rosson, responsible for several other Griffith successes directed. A Comedey, "His Private Life," with Lupino Lane, and one of the best comedies of the year, will be shown, as will a Universal News reel.

The feature for Saturday is Harry Carey in "The Man from Red Gulch." "Home Cured," a Mermaid comedy, a Pathe Review and a scenic round out the program.

Great O. B. Improvement Activities

GOLDBERG AND MAIROT PLAN TO BUILD TWENTY-ONE FINE NEW HOUSES

Sam Goldberg and Louis Mairot took out permits for the first three of a series of twenty-one new homes that they will immediately construct just north of Voltaire street. These homes will progress to their entire fulfillment as rapidly as they can be carefully and efficiently constructed, and the plans call for buildings that will be an asset to Ocean Beach.

They have now acquired a sufficient number of 50-foot lots to accommodate the structures, and the plans and specifications for the buildings are on display at the offices of the Ocean Beach Realty Co., corner of Bacon and Voltaire.

During the past week there has been great activity on Voltaire street, and that thoroughfare is rapidly approaching the eminence of a real substantial business center which it will not be denied. Speaking of the many transactions that have made frontage on Voltaire street much sought for, Mr. Stanford Vose of the Ocean Beach Realty Co., said:

"We have always contended that Voltaire street was the logical business street of all Point Loma; it commands the traffic impulse of the whole section; the buildings being erected and to be erected are real substantial edifices, and the population of this territory is increasing in leaps and bounds, making all the residential section adjacent to both sides of Voltaire much sought for by those who cast a discriminating eye to the future.

"The fact that two gentlemen have already started the construction of a score of lovely stucco residences on streets just off of Voltaire should disclose to anyone the advisability of locating in the most favored part of all Point Loma, and I am pleased to state that the people of the whole northern section of this territory seem mutually to blend their concerted efforts in making this the most highly desirable portion of San Diego, both as business and as a residential district."

"Clean-Up" Campaign Now On

At a regular meeting of the O. B. Chamber of Commerce last Tuesday night arrangements were perfected for the great "Clean-Up" campaign to be inaugurated today at Ocean Beach. Chairman Fred H. Kraft of the special committee, states that everybody is invited to join in the general effort towards making Ocean Beach the most presentable residence district in San Diego. Young and old, boys and girls, men and women, all are urgently requested to join in the "clean-up" campaign beginning this Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock, when groups will be organized in front of the Chamber of Commerce building on Beacon street. The campaign is now on. Let's go!

FLORIDA DISASTER RELIEF

A committee to appoint committees was announced, with H. K. Rankin as chairman and F. A. Plank and F. H. Kraft as members.

President Edward Earle announced the formation of a committee to aid the American Red Cross Society in securing contributions for the Florida Disaster Relief Fund. Postmaster Rankin states that a very goodly sum has been already subscribed at the station in the post office building.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

IN THE MORNING

A COMMON difficulty with the majority of drowsy mortals when waking to a new day, is to face it with becoming gladness of soul and cheerfulness of speech.

Anybody it is supposed can find a delectable bit of joy in the blushing summer morn, when the dew is on the grass and the air is odorous with the delicious fragrance of night-born flowers.

But alas! how many of us, with habitually heavy eyelids and hearts unattuned to the beauties of the sky and the sod, can interpret the worshipful spirit of the earth and the sea, and lift our voice in adoration and praise, unless we are in love?

And this is what we ought to be—in love with God's wonderful handiwork all about us, the gleaming verdure, the rosy east, the crooning balmy winds and without wives and husbands, the chattering little children and their pursed up lips perpetually framing puzzling questions, eager to know and to understand the things surrounding them in a world in which they are not yet acquainted.

Whatever it may be with regard to others, let the humor of beneficent happiness take hold of you and fill your morning with brightness until it radiates its inspiring rays like the sun.

The joys of others caught from you will be to your soul like sweet music.

However shy it may be in the beginning, it will grow bolder with the strength of the night and fit you for the duties of your day.

In the morning of life are born resolutions which will take you a step nearer to the accomplishment of the great achievements of which you have been dreaming for years.

In the morning begin doing good to yourself by doing good to others, and this can best be done by being cheerful.

Start the day right if you would greet its closing with a smile, conscious of having done your best as you trudged along the weary way.

In the morning the birds fill the air with praisgful songs; the hills and valleys wear their brightest colors and the heavens their softest hues, but man, the noblest creature on earth, frequently appears at his worst.

In the morning of his life he wastes his health and energy in loading his pocket with gold, and when the final night darkens his vision, he would gladly give all his wealth for a single grain of faith, such as was shown by the afflicted woman who touched the hem of our Master's garment that she might be healed!

GIRLIGAGS

"A man never realizes how much he likes to stay home," says observing Olivia, "until his wife asks him to take her somewhere."

Mother's Cook Book

He came up smiling—used to say
He made his fortune that a'way
He had hard luck a plenty, too,
And settled down and fought her through,
And every time he got a jolt,
He just took on a tighter holt,
Slipped back some when he tried to climb,
But came up smilin' every time.

SEASONABLE FOODS

A GOOD main dish for luncheon is:

Luncheon Eggs.

Wash and chop one-fourth of a pound of mushrooms, melt one tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan, add the mushrooms and stir until all the moisture has evaporated; add one tablespoonful of flour, blend well, then add one-half cupful of chicken stock, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, and a little pepper, let cook two minutes. Cut into halves six hard-cooked eggs, remove the yolks and mix them with the mushroom sauce. Fill the eggs with this mixture and set them into a baking dish, surround with tomato sauce and heat thoroughly. Just before serving place a fillet of sardine on each stuffed egg. Serve from the baking dish.

Sour Cream Salad Dressing.

Whip the cupful of sour cream, add one tablespoonful of sugar, a teaspoonful of lemon juice and a dash of cayenne. Serve on sliced onions, lettuce, cucumbers or any other vegetables. On cabbage it is especially good.

Cabbage Dish.

Spread dry bread with butter, sprinkle with finely cut or grated cheese (a rich cheese that will not become stringy when heated), put layers into a baking dish until enough has been prepared to supply the family, cover with the following custard:

[illegible] pinch of salt. See that enough egg and milk is used to well soak and cover the bread. Bake in a slow oven and serve at once when the custard is set.

Sardine Salad.

Skin and bone a dozen sardines, add a cupful of mashed hard-cooked egg yolks, two tablespoonfuls each of chopped olives and celery, a pinch of dry mustard, and lemon juice to moisten. Mix and form into balls, roll in boiled rice. Arrange around a mound of stuffed olives and serve garnished with roses of mayonnaise.

Here is a tamale recipe for those who enjoy them:

Chicken Tamale.

Boil a fowl until tender, salt and season with onion or garlic while cooking. Remove the meat from the bones and chop fine, add a bit of garlic and a generous quantity of cayenne pepper. Make a thick paste of corn meal, salt and boiling water. Form the meat into rolls the size of the finger and encase each in corn meal paste. Wrap each tamale in corn husk, tie with a strip of husk and drop into chicken stock to cook. Add two or three Mexican peppers and cook fifteen minutes.

Chicken Salad.

Mix one pint of diced chicken with one cupful of celery, a little chopped cabbage, a bit of onion and green pepper and add well seasoned mayonnaise. Serve on tender lettuce.

Apple with the chicken in place of cabbage makes a good change in the flavor of the salad.

Spanish Chicken Soup.

Heat three cupfuls of chicken soup stock and the same of veal. Add a grated onion, a finely minced carrot and two stalks of celery chopped fine. Add one cupful of barley and simmer until the barley is done. Season to taste and rub through a sieve before serving.

THE ORDINARY MAN

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

I'M JUST a man like Bob or Ben,
Just plain and ordinary men—
The kind you see on trolley cars,
Of smoking seven-cent cigars
Because they rather hate to blow
The money for a ton, you know,
On just themselves—the kind you meet
In every crowd, on every street,
Who wear a thing a year or two
Because they like to make it "do."
(It leaves a little more to spend
For household needs, or home to send.)

I'm just a man like Bill or Dan,
A plain and ordinary man,
Who has a job downtown somewhere
And does some task with so much care
They keep him at it year by year,
And say that he's "a fixture here."
But there's a day his name they note—
They call it "getting out the vote";
And then next morning he may read
Which fellows won, which parties lead.
(And realizes he's again
One of the ordinary men.)

The world is full of Ben and Bob,
Who have the ordinary job.
Their wives can tell you men who made
More wealth, or had a better trade;
But all the ordinary man
Has done, it seems, or ever can,
Is just to raise some girls and boys,
And give them ordinary joys,
And keep a roof above their heads,
And put a Bible by their beds.
(Grow just the ordinary gray
In just the ordinary way.)

WHEN I WAS TWENTY-ONE

BY JOSEPH KAYE

At 21—Raymond B. Fosdick Was Without Even the Traditional Cent in His Pocket.

"MY POSITION in life at the age of twenty-one was nebulous. I was just out of college, with a B. A. and an M. A. to my credit and not one cent in my pocket.

"My ambition was to be a lawyer, not so much for the sake of law as an end in itself, but in order to use law in the service of certain social and economic developments in which I was, and am, greatly interested.—Raymond B. Fosdick."

TODAY—Mr. Fosdick is one of the best-known private citizens in America. He is a lawyer by profession, but, as he says, he has aimed to utilize law mostly as a means to further social and other communal work.

During the war, Mr. Fosdick was the representative of the War department in France, civilian aide to General Pershing and undersecretary general to the League of Nations. Before this he was chairman of the training-camp activities of the army and navy.

One of the social subjects which Mr. Fosdick has studied at length is the police system, on which he is an authority, and he is a trustee of the Rockefeller Foundation.

As early as at twenty-five years of age Mr. Fosdick already occupied a high position. He was assistant corporation counsel of the city of New York, and two years later he was made commissioner of accounts of New York, a most important post, carrying with it the power of investigation of all city departments.

Household Hint

Use any good polishing cream on a soft cloth on a parchment lampshade. Wipe it gently, without rubbing, on only a small portion of the shade at a time. Then wipe off the cream with a damp cloth. The same process will remove dust and smoke from a wooden lampshade and from gilt picture frames.

ENSEMBLE THEME FINDS FAVOR; ERA OF ELABORATE MILLINERY

EVIDENTLY the makers of our modes believe that we cannot have too much of a good thing. Which, perhaps, accounts for the fact that the ensemble costume bids fair to establish a new record for itself in the matter of popularity. The new plaided and checked and otherwise be-patterned flannels are enough to tempt genius into combining them with solid colored worsteds, wherein coat and frock are interrelated.

A striking autumn compose suit is shown in the picture. One can readily appreciate that such an ensemble will give splendid service. As to smart style it carries conviction. It is just such fancy colorful woolens which give favor to the new modes.

Very cunning arrangements are featured. For instance, a plaided sports ensemble stresses a coat and skirt of the novelty woolen with a blouse of plain flannel whose coloring responds to some chosen shade in the plaid. This idea of creating the jacket to match the skirt with a contrasting jumper blouse is very important.

Feminine arrivals from abroad expressed their choice of Paris style in that they sponsored plain and novelty woolen ensembles. These compose treatments took form in coats of monotone woolen posed over skirts of pin-checks in matching hues. One interesting version included a skirt in stripes of gray and black worn with a coat of gray.

There is no end to the novelty woolens which combine effectively with like fabric of solid coloring. For sportswear a pleasing material shows a curious darned effect in a second coloring such as mauve on green, blue on a blue of darker mien, and so on. Some of the dressier woolens show a patterning in metal thread—all of which goes to emphasize the fact that woolens of extreme novelty will represent foremost coming fashion.

We are scheduled to wear millinery of a more elaborate type. That hats are not as simple in their styling as they once-upon-a-time were, is the one outstanding impression gained after a careful review of millinery collections as they now are. There is every evidence of a trimmed era being ushered in.

Even the new felts declare mutiny in the ranks when it comes to featuring the simple banded types. The two felt models shown at the top of the accompanying group tell a story of greater elaboration. Felts of larger brim are crowding out the closer-fitting sort. Also in order to retain the mode's favor the new felts have taken on a most superior quality. Ordinary common felts are passe. The picture shows kind in demand this season.

Since ornateness and elaboration is the keynote to success in the newer millinery, the designer of the first hat shown here resorted to scissors and a paint brush to accomplish the feat, which in this instance is a cunningly contrived and stenciled floral patterned brim. As a matter of fact both felts pictured at the top of the illustration display a fine finesse in the way of carefully applied velvet bindings and other details.

The soft, gracefully manipulated crown grows in favor. The model centered in the picture is an admirable autumn headwear suggestion.

Moire silk is a magic word these days in the realm of millinery. It is the popular fabric for immediate wear. The large black moire hat pictured here typifies the last word in smart fashion.

The hat shown last in the group accents the trend toward the higher crown.

Insist That Frogs Arrived in Deluge

The government meteorological office in Washington gave scant credence to those Danville residents who said that it rained frogs. Officials said there had been several similar reports previously, but none of them had been proved.

North Danville residents, on the other hand, pointed to millions of black frogs as large as a man's fingernail hopping about Bryant avenue. Small boys with cans and buckets collected them by the thousands. In some cases the frogs were shoveled from porches and walks. At six o'clock in the evening there were no frogs in sight. Following a tropical deluge at that hour, lasting a half hour, the streets and yards of that section of the city were thick with them. One theory was that the tiny frogs were brought out of hiding places by the heavy rain, but this was held unlikely by the absence of trees on the street.—Washington Post.

Not Typewriting, Chemistry

A colored woman of ample proportions came into the office of Frederick E. Schortemeier, secretary of state, not long ago and inquired whether a position could be found for her daughter. She explained that the girl was a high school graduate.

"Can she do any typewriting?" the secretary asked.

"Oh, yes," replied the mother.

"I suppose she studied it in school?" Mr. Schortemeier asked.

"No, but she took chemistry," was the reply.—Indianapolis News.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

by Mary Graham Bonner

COPYRIGHT BY WESTERN NEWSPAPER UNION

PETER'S SIGHT-SEEING

Now Peter Gnome heard of people going to county fairs and on vacations and holidays and of this and that and the other thing.

So he thought he would do a bit of sight-seeing for himself!

He told them all about it when he got home at night. Of course he put on his invisible robe and went where there were children.

Waiting for Her Clothes.

"I saw Lucy swimming under water," he said. "She was swimming wonderfully, and seemed to be as much at home under the water as on top of it.

"Then I saw Muriel get a wishbone and when she pulled it with some one she got the top of the wishbone and her wish came true.

"She wished for a special book she very much wanted as a present and that evening her daddy brought it home to her.

"Then I saw Mrs. Cucumber Green, who is the mother of Allie Baa. Allie's clothes had just been washed and her stockings and jacket and cap and scarf and all were hanging up on the line.

"They looked so cunning hanging up on the line.

"Allie was in bed waiting for her clothes. Allie, you know, is a rag doll and Mrs. Cucumber Green is the make-believe, play name, of her mother.

"I saw Mahalia who had just been to visit her cousins and had seen a bulldog named Nellie.

"Nellie was white and pretty old and clumsy, but still Nellie was so affectionate she wanted to get in Mahalia's lap.

"She pushed Mahalia into a chair so she would hold her and then she snored so loudly that you could have heard her in another room.

"But Nellie was a wise, smart dog and a good watchdog, too.

"She knew the steps of every member of the family and she knew strange steps, too.

"Then I heard two boys talking and how they did get the wrong words in the wrong places. But it seemed as though the words were having a game among themselves and were having a holiday and a change of scene and air by getting into another than their right places.

"Then I heard the old clock strike that gets so weary when it isn't wound up regularly.

"It loses, just as regularly as clock work, as the saying is, five minutes a day, and it is quite regular and exact about this!

"Then I saw a little girl named Tony and she had a little dog named Tiny.

"I saw a Teddy Bear sitting up in a chair beside a little girl and watching the little girl eating peas and potatoes and a chop.

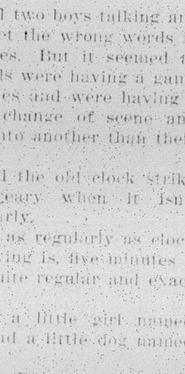
"The bear's arms were stretched out as though to say that he loved the whole world and would clasp it in his little eager arms.

"There were two older Teddy Bears—or at least they were bigger and they all had black eyes and they all seemed to look so pleased that it seemed as though they were smiling.

"Then I saw all the clocks being put in Molly's room before she went to bed, for clocks and their ticks keep the members of her family awake but Molly says they put her to sleep.

"So all the clocks are put in Molly's room before she goes to bed.

"There is a regular procession of clocks at Molly's bedtime!



Watching the Little Girl.

"I saw Paddy Brown, the little white dog, playing out-of-doors with little Christine, and remembered that the last time I had seen him he had been spending a great deal of time calling on little Dolly and sitting with her before the fire on the big rug.

"He had said, by his manners, that he was never lonely with Dolly, sitting by the fire, but that if he was by himself he was apt to get lonely.

"Oh, I had a fine day of sight-seeing." And the Gnomes all agreed that it was so.

At the Play

Hero in the Play—Cur! Where are those papers?

Villain—They are at the blacksmith's.

"Ha! You are having them forged?"

"No; I am having them filed."

Least Valuable in Pocket

What is the least valuable thing a boy can have in his pocket?

A hole.

FISHER DESIGN SETS THE PACE

The pace set by Fisher—and exemplified in the beautiful new General Motors cars now commanding public attention—is the guide for the entire motor industry.

Fisher's vast experience, Fisher inventiveness and Fisher's unapproached facilities devise and perfect the beauties, comforts and conveniences which attract you to the leading new cars in all price classes—Cadillac, Buick, Chevrolet, Oakland, Oldsmobile and Pontiac.

For instance, Fisher achieves a new degree of safety—and nothing less than a Body by Fisher can approach it even after seasons of striving.

Fisher leads the way in luxurious fitments and decorations—and all the industry follows.

Fisher creates new standards of beauty in line and finish—and those standards are the measure of value for all of the world's cars.

It is easy to see, therefore, why the foremost of the new cars in all price classes carry the emblem—Body by Fisher.

And easy to understand why buyers the world over proclaim as the hallmark of quality that same magic symbol—Body by Fisher.

Probably Tootin' Her Own

The young college girl, whose firsthand knowledge of country life and all things pertaining thereto was rudimentary, visited a friend on the latter's farm.

Among the many things of interest to her was the cow and to her surprise she learned that the animal had horns. She stood watching the cow for a while, discussing with her friend this feature of the animal's physiology, and then turned away. The cow bawled.

"Oh, which one of her horns did she blow?" breathlessly demanded the college girl as she grasped her friend's arm.

When the "Elocution Queen" Was Supreme

I think that elocutionism, as perpetrated by those who have taken lessmany of our states, but it was almost sons, is now prohibited by law in an epidemic in the "seventies." Tall brunette ladies of intense personality, and always suffering from a slight cold, would travel from town to town and collect their victims into halls, and goose-pimple them with "Rum's Maniac," "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight," and "The Fall of the Pemberton Mill." I can think of only one form of entertainment more devastating than the serious recitation given by the lady professional who bites her words, and that is the humorous or laugh-provoking selection attempted by the same type of performer.—George Ade, in Hearst's International Cosmopolitan.

Bromine From Ocean

American chemists plan to get bromine, which is indispensable in medicine and many arts and industries, in unlimited quantities from the ocean in the future. About 1,800 gallons of sea water must be treated for every pound of bromine recovered.

Keep Step With Voltaire St.

Are you keeping step, in a business way, with the giant strides that Voltaire Street is making? Are you aware of the transformation that is taking place on Voltaire street and are you aware of the many changes that are contemplated and in process of accomplishment that will make Voltaire the logical center of the business section of this city? We have steadily and consistently urged that Voltaire street was destined to become a second Western Avenue of Los Angeles, and that we were correct in our convictions is distinctly evidenced by the following activities that have occurred only in the last ten days:

1. Three nice stores to be erected on the south side of Voltaire between Bacon and Abbott;
2. Northast corner of Bacon and Voltaire has just been leased for a long term of years and building will be erected immediately.
3. Another corner of Bacon and Voltaire right now under most favorable negotiations for long term lease; we are just one week too early to divulge further information on this.
4. The new three-store concrete building on south side of Voltaire between Bacon and Cable just completed and taken over by the Ocean Beach Realty Co., on long term lease.
5. Two different live businesses already have leased two of the stores from us and will occupy same immediately.
6. Construction on new store building on north side Voltaire street, just east of Bacon, will start within ten days.
7. Dr. Tinsley is erecting building accommodating two stores, one of which will be a drug store, at corner Voltaire and Cable.
8. One corner of De Foe and Voltaire sold this week and another leased, with assurance of construction very soon.
9. Williams building completed and sold this week.
10. Sam Goldberg and Louis Mairot start Monday on the construction of 21 new handsome stucco bungalows just off Voltaire street, and will carry through to completion. Planss for these buildings and their specifications may be seen in this office.
11. Eight other attractive first-class bungalows are now building adjacent to Voltaire street, some of them real revelations in design and adaptability.
12. Petition of electrically lighting Voltaire has been signed by 85 per cent of the frontage owners on Voltaire Street, who are quick to see the future business center of all Point Loma located right in this most desirable section.

There are many other active preparations for increased activity on Voltaire street, and it is our firm belief, and we will lend our untiring efforts to making this the best and finest business street with the best and most substantial buildings that will exist on all Point Loma. We know Voltaire Street intimately, and our service to you may be helpful.

BALBOA THEATER

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday "Mantrap," comes to the Balboa Theatre. It is a distinctly new kind of a Canadian woods story. For one thing, it has no Northwest Mounted Police. Secondly, it deals with the woods in mid-summer, when they are the paradise of campers and vacationers, and not, with three feet of snow.

In fact, the whole story, which is by Sinclair Lewis, the author of "Main Street," "Babbitt" and "Arrowsmith," is unusual throughout. A distinctly novel type of love story predominates, with Clara Bow as the girl, and Ernes Torrence and Percy Marmont the men. Paramounts latest production was directed by Victor Fleming.

Fanchon and Marco are sending a high-class stage presentation, with each show in which refreshing songs, comedy and dancing prevail. A cast of notable players will furnish this delightful entertainment.

The Junior Matinees every Saturday afternoon from 12:30 to 2:30 o'clock are proving as popular as ever with hundreds of children who flock to the Balboa Theatre for the carefully selected programs arranged for their pleasure. Chaperones from the Better Films Committee are present at each Junior Matinee as hostesses.

Notable world news in pictorial reels and other short reels round out the well balanced entertainment.

CABRILLO THEATER

Johnny Hines has provided himself with another comedy vehicle, which takes its place among the funniest pictures of the year, according to advance notices to Cabrillo Theatre, where "The Brown Derby," will be shown for one week, starting Friday.

The story of "The Brown Derby," deals with the exciting happenings that come into the life of a good natured young man when he finds himself the heir to a brown derby bequeathed him by an eccentric uncle. It seems Johnny has an inferiority complex, and the strange powers of this chapeau chases the gloom away. With the brown derby on Johnny's head, and a case of mistaken identity under way, the fun starts at a furious pace and doesn't let up for one moment.

Since the particular scenes in "The Brown Derby", required 500 of the head-gear, the famous comedian was seemingly up against it after making a thouroug investigation of hat stores and hat manufacturers throughout New York and finding the sum total of exactly eighteen brown derbies.

It finally dawned upon Hines to apply for information to the Hatters Association of America who referred him to the original makers of the Melton brown derby. In order to comply with his request the makers of the hat detailed a special force of dyers to manufacture the same type of brown derby that was originally worn by the ultra smart of the Four Hundred some twenty-five years ago.

You'll enjoy "The Brown Derby," with every conceivable kind of laugh tucked away in and under the cocoa-colored chapeau—the first cousin to the ear-muffs.

West Coast Current Kinograms and other short reels round out the excellent bill scheduled for Cabrillo this week. Raymond Godden will furnish his usual high-class program of musical selections on the organ.

Last Friday evening "Gift Nite," proved so successful and enjoyable, that Manager H. L. Hartman will arrange a second "Gift Nite," for this Friday evening at 9 o'clock. Today is Ladies Bargain Matinee with an attractive admission that will appeal to feminine fans.

FINAL MEETINGS BY EVANGELIST MACE IN OCEAN BEACH

The Evangelistic Meeting at the Congregational Church closed on Wednesday evening with a very fine meeting with pictures on the Life of Joseph, a set called "From Dungeon to the Throne."

Mr. Mace will on Sunday evening give an illustrated lecture on Mission work among the Indians; and on Monday will leave for the Southern California Methodist Church Conference, where he will have his exhibit of church publicity, an exhibit among the best on church publicity.

Those who have attended the meetings, feel that they have been well worth-while.

Tuesday evening Miss Dorothy Dunn favored us with a solo, "Rock of Ages," which was illustrated on the screen with some beautiful slides as sung.

Monday, pictures illustrated the sermon; the sermon being on the Life of Christ, and the Passion Play, showing the last week of the Christ's life here on earth, before His death on the Cross.

DO YOU KNOW

That it is reliably asserted that San Diego County, with an area almost equal to the State of Connecticut, has a 50x140-foot homesite for every other family in the United States, whereas only a few thousand fortunate people will ever be able to occupy its limited marine front. By same token, San Diego has millions of landscapes but only a few seascapes.

The creosote is placed on rags and then tied to the trees. The smell keeps the deer out.

During the visit of the Pacific fleet to San Francisco, with 2300 sailor lads, from every state, in port, the Salvation Army served free coffee and doughnuts to them from a tent on the pier. Their guests consumed an average of 200 gallons of coffee and 400 dozen doughnuts each day during the week the fleet was in port. Ensign and Mrs. C. Stairs who were in charge of the tent believed that many a boy would write home to his family if he was reminded to do it. So the Salvationists provided paper envelopes and stamps and more than 600 mothers received letters written home by the boys on Sunday alone. Hundreds more were mailed every day, the Ensign reports.

California's first planting of state grown Mongolian or "ring necked" pheasants has recently been made at Redding, E. E. Zellerbach of the California Fish and Game Commission, on commenting upon the planting of pheasants, said "If the people in the vicinity where these birds are planted will care for them properly and insist upon strict enforcement of the law, they will, within a few years, have the finest upland shooting on the Pacific Coast."

Ten years ago, Assistant Professor Chester Stock brought to the University of California a broken tooth of a primitive bear-like animal which he picked up in the John Day region in Oregon. In an expedition to the same region this summer, Dr. J. C. Merriam, Honorary Curator of the Museum of Paleontology and Director of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, D. C. found the other half of this same tooth. The valley is many miles in extent and is filled with bone fragments, and the patching together of this one tooth after ten years is regarded by the scientists as one of the most unusual incidents attending a field trip.

Wiring Diagram of the Four-Tube Receiver.

By K. B. HUMPHREY

In the New York Herald-Tribune.

The Quality Four, as its name implies, was designed with the express purpose of having a receiver with a minimum number of tubes which would give quality above all else. However, after extensive tests it was found that it also had good distance-getting ability even when used with a rather short antenna. The DX ability of the set is due primarily to the fact that regeneration can be employed in the two stages of tuned radio-frequency, being under control at all times and throughout the wave band of the receiver. Two stages of tuned radio-frequency are used—a potentiometer controlled crystal rectifier and two stages of transformer coupled audio-frequency.

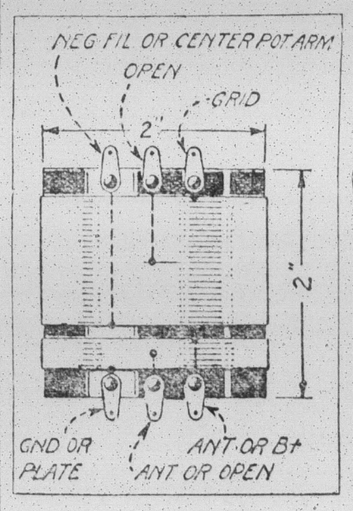
Keeping in mind that the receiver was designed as a quality proposition, it might be well to go into the question of where distortion occurs in the ordinary receiver and how it may be eliminated. Distortion sometimes occurs in the radio-frequency end, and in order to eliminate this possibility in this receiver the coils were carefully designed and a volume control by means of a potentiometer was installed.

Distortion may very easily take place in the vacuum tube when used as a detector. In order to eliminate this source of distortion a crystal rectifier is used in place of the tube.

Transformer Coupling Used.

Transformer coupling on the audio side is by far the most efficient means of coupling the tubes together. Since the resistance-coupled amplifiers have come on the market there has been a marked improvement in the audio-frequency transformers due to the competition, and no reader may be in the least afraid to use the improved types.

In order to depart from the home-made appearance, which a good many of this type of receiver are prone to have, the use of brackets and a composition subpanel was used to support the tubes and transformers. All of the wiring was concealed beneath this panel and the general appearance of the receiver is that of a well-built factory product.



Construction Details of the Radio-Frequency Transformers.

For those who wish to build up the receiver according to their own ideas a circuit diagram is given showing the various constants used in the circuit. However, if the reader is desirous of using standard parts other than those in the actual model it is well to obtain all the parts and lay them out before actually drilling the panel.

It will be noticed that the panel is given as having dimensions of 8¾ inches. This was chosen in order to fit in a certain style of cabinet which also provided room for the "B" batteries at the rear. However, a panel of the standard size—that is 7 by 22—may be used if desired and it will be found that the apparatus will fit in equally well.

Laying Out the Subpanel.

The subpanel is made from a piece of bakelite. The thickness should not be less than three-sixteenths of an inch. The dimensions given permit the use of a cabinet only 6½ inches deep. It may be made wider than 8 inches if it is desired, due allowance being made for the dimensions of the cabinet.

The crystal detector is mounted on top of the panel by means of two small brass brackets.

After the apparatus is well assembled on the subpanel and front panel the wiring of the receiver may be taken up.

No. 18 round bus bar was used throughout, as it is found easier to handle than the heavier wire without any particular advantage in the extra copper.

A diagram of one of the coils is given showing the connections. The grid is always connected to the terminal farthest away from the primary end and the "B" plus lead is connected to the corresponding terminal on the primary winding. It will be noticed that there is a center tap on each one of the coils, both on the primary and the secondary. This is provided, so that variable coupling may be obtained. The center tap is not used in this circuit except in providing two different aerial taps, the whole primary being used for a short aerial and center tap being used for an extremely long aerial in order to obtain the proper selectivity.

Coil Data.

The distance between the primary and secondary winding should be one-sixteenth of an inch. This method of winding cuts down the capacity coupling between the primary and secondary and is used for that reason. The small size of the coils naturally limits the extent of the magnetic field and permits closer spacing than with the larger diameter coils of the solenoid type. The number of turns on the primary is 28 and the size of the wire No. 32 double silk-covered magnet wir. The secondary consists of 65 turns of No. 30 double silk-covered magnet wire. It will be found that the primary will take up about five-sixteenths of an inch and the secondary about one inch.

The receiver tunes in much the same manner as the ordinary tuned radio frequency set. The three dials will register approximately the same and may be logged in the regular way. The aerial coil may be thrown out a little by the use of various sized aerials, but not enough to cause any difficulty in tuning. The condensers are of the revised straight-line variety and give plenty of spacing between all the stations, from the lowest to the highest. The potentiometer gives an absolute control of regeneration in the radio frequency tubes and for local reception should be turned rather well back to the left. For distant stations the receiver may be brought right up to the point of oscillation and held there. It is at this point that the receiver is most sensitive and most selective.

Just a word about the aerial. The average aerial of about eighty feet in length seems to give about the best all-around results, though a longer aerial will, in some locations, improve the distance.

List of Parts.

The list of parts required, and it is to be recommended that the builder obtain all of the parts before a single thing is done in regard to the actual assembly of the receiver, is as follows:

One panel, 8¾ by 22 by 3/16 inches.
One cabinet.
Three 4-inch dials.
Three condensers and coils to match.
One rheostat, 6 ohms.
One potentiometer.
One single jack.
One battery switch.
Two supporting brackets.
One .25 bypass condenser.
One .1 microfarad bypass condenser.
One .005 microfarad fixed condenser.
Two audio transformers.
One subpanel, 2½ by 5 by 3-16 inches.
One carborundum potentiometer controlled crystal.
Four sockets.
Eight binding posts.
Miscellaneous wire, spaghetti and screws.

Phones and "B" Battery to Test Old Lamp Cord

Old flexible lamp cord which has been handled a great deal frequently is found to have one or more breaks in the wire inside the insulation. The continuity of a strand can easily be determined by connecting the ends in series with a pair of phones and a "B" battery. If the phones emit a loud clack the wire is whole; if they remain silent when the circuit is completed the wire is broken somewhere along its length.

Care in Placing Tubes

When placing the tubes in the sockets, be careful how they are handled. Many tubes have been injured through rough usage. The tubes will not stand the rough treatment given them by many fans. The tips are sometimes broken and thus make poor contacts. Do not take the tubes out of the sockets any oftener than is absolutely necessary.

For Quiet Operation

To insure quiet operation and maximum selectivity in your superheterodyne, be sure the primary and secondary of the filter coupler are tuned. Ordinarily two .00025 mfd fixed condensers, evenly matched, will do it.

HOW MANY WOMEN GET UP SINGING

Two Women Find Health Essential to Happiness

MRS BELLE THOMPSON
ROUTE 2, ROSSVILLE, GEORGIA

Springtime streamed in through the open windows. The green fields of Georgia were basking in the sunshine. Somewhere a bird was trilling. It was a day to be happy.

But the pale woman at the table sighed and pushed away her plate. Nothing tasted right. She couldn't eat much. She couldn't sleep well, either. She was so weak, it was hard to do her work. When the baby cried, she wanted to cry, too.

She had not been well for four years. Her husband watched her with a man's helpless expression. But his mother knew a remedy.

"My mother-in-law," says Mrs. Belle Thompson, Route 2, Rossville, Ga., "told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I took six bottles of the Vegetable Compound. I could sleep and would get up in the morning singing and feeling fine. I am the mother of three children, and always after the babies came I had to take treatments, but I can truly say that this last time I have only used the Sanative Wash. It does more good than the treatments. It keeps me on my feet to care for my children and I do most of my work. I feel it my duty to let you know how both of the medicines have helped me."

Another Happy Woman

Decatur, Illinois.—"I took your medicine for weakness. I would sometimes have to hold myself up with my hands. I was this way for five years, off and on. I read in the newspapers where Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped a lot of women, and I thought I would take it. I am now getting better so fast that every month I can feel a difference. My work now is cooking. If you like, you may use these facts as a testimonial. I am willing to help you boost your medicine."—Mrs. Irene Reed, 635 Greenwood Ave., Decatur, Ill.

This dependable medicine has been in use for over fifty years.

Royalty Seeking Mates

While King Boris of Bulgaria is looking assiduously for a wife to grace his throne, his twenty-four-year-old sister, Eudoxia, is seeking a husband. Unlike Boris, she has no throne or royal estate to offer—only her royal lineage and her affections. She has no money in her own name. She lives modestly with her brother in Sofia, but, unlike him, finds life in a Balkan capital, without relatives or family kin, extremely irksome and lonely. Eudoxia is ready to marry a commoner, provided he possesses character, means and gentle-breeding.

At the Pyramids

"Forty centuries look down upon you."

"They can't high-hat me."

Recent investigations show that many honey bees are poisoned when fruit trees are sprayed at the height of the blooming season.

Remembering the Sabbath

Secretary Thomas Todd of the American Congregational association said in a Boston address:

"If some people could have their way the Sabbath would only be observed as the old salt observed it.

"'I'd like to hire a boat,' a vacationist said to an old Gloucester salt one July Sunday. 'Any objections?'

"'Jumpin' Jonah, no!'

"'Well, I thought,' said the vacationist, 'today being Sunday—'

"'Holy mackerel!' said the old salt. 'So it is! I'd clean forgot. Of course, in that case, shipmate, I'll have to charge ye double rates.'"

Positively!

He—After all, where would woman be without her finery?

She—Presumably in her bath.

'Tis not what man does which exalts him, but what man should do.—Browning.

About 150 people attended the Palomar Laundry picnic last Sunday at Flynn Springs and had a riotously good time.

Guy A. Messick, a real estate man from Los Angeles, has been visiting this week at the home of his uncle, Dr. G. M. Selby, 3787 California street and viewing the city of San Diego for the first time, altho he has been a resident of Los Angeles since 1915. He is very enthusiastic (for an Angeleno) both over the location of San Diego and the real estate possibilities as well as the growth of the city and its suburbs.

Mr. Hubert Karr, 3787 California street, who has been ill with appendicitis is recovering. He is a new arrival in San Diego from Texas, and is employed at Dave's Prison.

Winfield Tobey, six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Tobey, 3718 Indiana street, had the misfortune to break his right arm while at play last Monday. It is what is known as a green strich fracture.

Dr. Russ A. Bullock of San Francisco was down to see his colleague, Dr. G. M. Selby, not knowing he was ill. Dr. Bullock and Dr. Selby were both stationed at Ft. Winfield Scott, San Francisco, in 1918, and have kept up the friendship there begun by correspondence.

Mr. P. Dougherty and family have moved from 3797 California street to their new home at La Mesa Heights.

Residents at Five Points feel that in Dr. Fred W. E. Henkel, who is caring for Dr. G. M. Selby's practice while he is ill, they have quite an interesting addition to the community. Dr. Hinkel was graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Chicago, the medical department of the University of Illinois in 1890. After graduation he went to Europe for post graduate work, spending a year at the University of Berlin. This was only one of many visits to Europe for post graduate work and sight seeing. For a number of years Dr. Henkel held the lectureship on Materia Medica at the College of Physician and Surgeons and for some time occupied the chair of gynecology in that institution. Later he entered private practice in Chicago, but feeling the call of the west, located several years ago in Colorado. For some time he has visited San Diego in the winter, and finally decided to locate here, arriving in San Diego just as failing health compelled Dr. Selby to retire from practice for a time, and graciously consented to care for Dr. Selby's practice for a season. At present Mrs. Henkel is visiting their only son, Mr. Fred W. Henkel, secretary of the Wallace Press of Chicago. Mrs. Henkel is going from Chicago to Agram, Jugo-Slavia, to visit their daughter, Mrs. Marie Henkel Heincz, wife of an importer there. The children of Dr. and Mrs. Henkel were educated here and in Europe, the youngest daughter who died in Arizona about three years ago, being an artist of great promise.

TWO IN ONE

Jimmy, of the Five Points Service station, says: "Some people wash their faces, every moring in the sink; but I use a drinking fountain, and do it while I drink!"

TROOP HIKES FOR REGISTERED SCOUTS ONLY

An order was recently made by the executive board of the San Diego Boy Scout Council, that hereafter no scoutmaster will be permitted to take boys that are not registered scouts on any hike or camp. This is a ruling made by national headquarters and will be enforced very strongly in this county.

WHERE THE PINEAPPLE GROWS

In the Hawaiian Islands, popularly known as the Paradise of the Pacific, pineapple plantations spread out for miles in beautiful and orderly array. Pineapple is a luscious tropical fruit that has proved its preference to these islands by developing a flavor, juiciness and sweetness superior to that it will develop in any other location. Here the industry has grown to a tremendous height, and plantations and canneries keep thousands of people busy and happy.
